

Attending the Annual ESVS meeting in Valencia was a great opportunity for me. Some of my Valencia highlights:

As I have attended the last year meeting in Lyon I think this year's meeting had more delegates and especially the abstract sessions and E-posters were more valuable.

Unfortunately I didn't have a chance to attend ESVS Academy workshops.

The "Vascular Surgeons in Dangerous Places Symposium", about training for war and remote environments, with expert tips and insights was a great talk.

Discussing new trial results and the session on trial methodology specially the information upon informed consent for trial inclusion was very educating for me.

The industry symposium about Rivaroxaban vascular dose was also an informative one.

As we are working a-lot on CBT in our center the carotid body tumor session specially the discussion on adjunctive measures in difficult carotid bodies were one of my favorite sessions.

The sessions which compared some of the CIRSE point of view against those of ESVS was a novel approach in my view.

The interactive voting was an interesting feature in the "What would you do and what happened next" Symposium.

And the grant from the society facilitated all these extraordinary experience

Thanks for everything ESVS!

Sincerely yours
